

CCTV Policy - Equality Impact Assessment (EIA)

The Equality Act 2010 replaces the previous anti-discrimination laws with a single Act. It simplifies the law, removing inconsistencies and making it easier for people to understand and comply with it. It also strengthens the law in important ways, to help tackle discrimination and equality. The majority of the Act came into force on 1 October 2010.

The public sector Equality Duty came into force on 5 April 2011. The duty ensures that all public bodies play their part in making society fairer by tackling discrimination and providing equality of opportunity for all. It ensures that public bodies consider the needs of all individuals in their day to day work – in shaping policy, delivering services and in relation to their own employees.

The Equality Duty encourages public bodies to understand how different people will be affected by their activities so that policies and services are appropriate and accessible to all and meet different people's needs. By understanding the effect of their activities on different people, and how inclusive public services can support and open up people's opportunities, public bodies are better placed to deliver policies and services that are efficient and effective.

MDH is required by law to have due regard to the need to:

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment, victimisation and any other conduct prohibited under the Act
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it, and
- Foster good relations between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.

EIA will be carried out by MDH in respect of new or revised policies and a copy of the assessment will be made available. Where it is clear from initial consideration that a policy will not have any effect on equality for any of the protected characteristics, no further analysis or action will be necessary.

1. What are the aims and objectives of the policy?

The aims of this new MDH policy relating to tenant use of CCTV and camera doorbells are numerous. Fundamentally, it has been written to support the provision of safe, secure and sustainable neighbourhoods and communities. However, it has also been designed to improve tenancy sustainment, and to provide a decision-making framework for reference by staff, Members of the Council and tenants setting out how any requests to install closed circuit TV (CCTV) systems or camera doorbells will be considered and approved.

2. What outcome do MDH want to achieve from this policy?

Tenants must apply to MDH for permission, before installation of CCTV or camera doorbells. Supporting information can be provided by other agencies (e.g. Police) but it must be the tenant that makes the request (or anyone legally entitled to act on their behalf)

3. Who is intended to benefit from the policy?

All Tenants

4. Who are the main stakeholders in relation to the policy?

- All tenants
- Household members
- Family members of tenants

5. On the basis of the analysis above, what actions, if any, will MDH need to take in respect of each of the equality strands?
